

Discovery Point

Connections

Early Childhood Educational Curriculum

Hearing books read aloud from infancy is the largest single influence on a child's future learning success. The interaction and warmth that takes place between a caregiver and a child not only builds a love of learning, but it also develops critical neurological connections from birth to 3 years old. Our proprietary Connections® Curriculum for Infants, Beginners, and Toddlers is research based and focused on providing the literature and language experiences needed during these early years.

- Key developmental standards
- Classical music and poetry
- Movement, songs, and fingerplay
- Intentional introduction to vocabulary
- Baby sign language with spoken word
- Sensory learning experiences

